Helping Growers increase their PROFITABILITY since 1993

Consulting Services

We are passionate about educating our current and future customers on all matters related to successful and profitable composting and farming.

To accomplish this, we offer a wide variety of basic and advanced training sessions, workshops, seminars, webinars, teleclasses, phone and on-site consulting.

Our standard consulting packages include phone consultations and site visits. We do recognize that some needs may be unique and specific to your area and/or situations. Custom consultation packages are available upon request.

"Our customers continue to convey that our consulting services contribute to a more profitable and productive operation. And almost every one of them report they wished they had called us sooner!" - Edwin Blosser
